

Navigate Data Compliance With Ease

Privitar Data Compliance Navigator streamlines compliance steps to accelerate data access

Global laws and regulations governing data privacy, protection, and security continue to evolve and come into effect, creating challenges for organizations that want to put data in the hands of users. "By 2024, government regulations requiring organizations to provide free and accessible consumer privacy rights will grow to cover five billion citizens and more than 70% of global GDP"¹.

Privatar Data Compliance Navigator (DCN) helps organizations grasp their exposure to data compliance laws, principles, and practices across multiple jurisdictions. Automated regulatory intelligence and compliance steps make it easier for organizations to provision data without compromising compliance.

“Compliance with data regulations is mission critical for our business and maintaining our customers’ trust. Privatar Data Compliance Navigator simplified compliance, supported expansion of our business operations into new markets, and saved us significant time and legal fees.”

Accelerate compliant data use

Many organizations turn to costly law firms to advise on data compliance. In this approach, the crucial compliance knowledge remains siloed in legal or compliance functions, or within external law firms, at arm’s length from the business functions that need it most. Business processes and decision-making slow down, introducing inefficiencies and delays no organization can afford.

DCN takes the time and cost out of efforts to understand and implement data compliance steps for any given project.

Actionable compliance steps in moments

DCN automatically calculates and communicates the compliance steps needed to meet relevant data compliance rules. DCN's rules engine contains the regulatory and legal requirements for data usage and cross-border transfer by purpose and jurisdiction, codified by experienced legal professionals with expertise in data privacy regulations.

Users describe their intended use of data in a simple web-based interface and DCN immediately calculates an assessment of risks and the steps to ensure compliance. Intuitive case management workflows enable sharing and reuse of knowledge. Actionable compliance steps easily translate to access and privacy policies for use in the Privitar Modern Data Provisioning Platform.

For data consumers

DCN shows analysts and data scientists how factors like purpose and location impact the compliance risk related to their projects. Compliance steps are transparent and digestible.

For data owners

DCN provides business users with an understanding of risks and data compliance steps related to the data assets they want to share.

For data guardians

DCN gives compliance teams actionable compliance steps to inform the access and privacy policies they put in place before granting access to data.

“Privitar’s pragmatic, commercial and deep-rooted knowledge of data privacy makes it a perfect fit for our team’s increasing demand for expertise in this area.”
